For example, if approved, the internal allocation of space within IDRM would result in the relocation of a number of research groups from the Le Gros Clark Building, enabling the full release and redevelopment of the building for the School of Anthropology and Museum Ethnography which, in turn, would release space on Banbury Road for further graduate accommodation.

- The size and shape of the student body noting that there had been a 15-20% annual increase in the number of applications per place.
- Demand was high for programmes in the division, particularly those that were innovative and interdisciplinary and in demand by the jobs market. The new MSc in Sustainability, Enterprise and the Environment, which would welcome its first cohort this Autumn, had attracted a high number of applications per place.
- The division’s PGT courses trained a consistent supply of high-quality DPhil candidates.
- The division had been working hard to enhance its curricula in these difficult times, one example being Oxford Minds⁶, the new digital curriculum enhancement programme for postgraduate students. The programme had provided over 27 hours of content and had attracted over 1300 delegates.
- The division continued to demonstrate its commitment to access through a number of initiatives:
  - UNIQ+ internships and UNIQ+ Digital
  - ESRC Doctoral Training Partnership renewal
  - Widening participation strategy, emphasis on academic potential
  - Foundation Oxford: for 2023 will include Law and PPE (TBC)
  - Opportunity Oxford: Law, PPE, Economics & Management
- The divisional development team was small but was doing an excellent job, focusing on two philanthropic priorities – new postgraduate scholarships and endowed academic posts.

- Progress was being made on key capital projects:
  - School of Anthropology and Museum Ethnography (SAME):
  - Oxford Internet Institute (OII): moving to the Schwarzman Centre;
  - Department of International Development (ODID): moving to the Winchester Road project site;
  - Saïd Business School (SBS): new executive education facility at Osney Power Station;
  - School of Geography and the Environment (SoGE): Refurbishment of Dyson Perrins laboratory
- Research income in the division was inevitably being adversely affected by the cuts to ODA grants.
- Academics in the division had won a number of major research awards including ERC starter grants, ERC consolidator grants and ERC advanced grants. There had been Early Career Research successes for number of staff.

Professor Timothy Power would be taking over as Head of Division at the end of this academic year. For the current Head, it had been a privilege to be part of the Vice-Chancellor’s senior team and to work with colleagues within the division and across the University.

The Vice-Chancellor thanked the Head of Division for her contribution to the work of the Division over the last four years, and prior to that, and during her other roles within the University. Her energy, wisdom and charm would be much-missed whilst she was on academic leave but the University looked forward to welcoming her back before long.

9. Reports from the Education Committee held on 18 June 2021

The Pro-Vice-Chancellor introduced the following items:

(a) Progress report on the Student Wellbeing and Mental Health Strategy (C(21)84)

The Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Education) reminded Council that the Student Wellbeing and Mental Health Strategy had been launched in October 2019. In spite of the pandemic, progress had been made on several of the actions under the leadership of the Mental Health Task Force, expertly chaired by the President of Wolfson. To build on this momentum, a proposal was now underway to establish a new Joint University/College Committee on Student Mental Health. The terms of reference had been approved by Education Committee and would be put to Conference of Colleges for approval in Michaelmas term, with a view to the new Joint Committee starting its work in January 2022. In the national context, concerns about young people’s mental health, particularly students, remained high. The University intends to sign up to the University Mental Health Charter.

In discussion, it was noted that the Charter covered both students and staff and that it would be important to ensure that work in this area by Education Committee and Personnel Committee was joined up. The Chair of Conference thanked the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Education) for his efforts in joining up the University and colleges in their work on mental health. The Pro-Vice-Chancellor (People and GLAM) explained that, for staff, a Wellbeing Strategy Group had been established, chaired by Professor Chris Conlon. The Group had been working hand in hand with students and would provide an update to Council in due course.

Council noted the report and Implementation Plan with updated actions at Annex A.

(b) Permanent Private Halls Supervisory Committee: Annual Report 2020-21 (C(21)85) **

Council noted the Annual Report and the actions agreed by Education Committee.

10. Report from Personnel Committee held on 10 June 2021 (C(21)86) **

(a) Annual Equality Report and targets for committee representation

The Pro-Vice-Chancellor (People and GLAM) introduced the report, drawing the following points to Council’s attention.

- Many of the 2020 objectives had been met:
  - 20% of Statutory Professors were now women.
  - Women comprised 42% of members of Council and its five main committees, including at least 35% on five out of six committees (the exception being PRAC).
  - The University had improved its standing in the Stonewall Top 100 Employers 2020, rising from 93rd to 76th place in the Workplace Equality Index.

- A number had not been met:

7 Professor Eidinow declared a conflict of interest.

* The confidential or restricted designation is removed from this version of the minutes.

A brief note of the action taken by Council is included instead of a version of the minutes.
- The target of 35% of Associate Professors being women had not been met.
- The University had postponed its applications for institutional Athena Swan and Race Equality Charter (REC) awards until 2022 due to the pandemic. The Race Equality Task Force would therefore be able to feed into the REC application.

- Work was underway on the development of revised gender equality and new ethnicity targets for the period to 2029. Levels of diversity amongst staff were under discussion at divisional level and would look quite different across the divisions. A new suite of targets would be brought to Council for approval in Michaelmas term 2021.

- Results from the recent Staff Experience Survey were now being analysed at institutional, divisional and department levels and would be reported to Council in due course. It appeared that some inequalities had increased due to the pandemic and these would need to be monitored and addressed where possible.

Following discussion Council:

(i) noted progress against the University’s equality objectives for the period 2016-20;

(ii) approved gender and ethnicity targets for representation on Council and its main committees and the further recommendations of the Staff Targets Working Group, as set out in the paper.

11. University Risk Register (C(21)87)

The Director of Assurance, Mr Lukasz Bohdan presented the report.

Council noted the University Risk Register and received assurance that the principal risks to the University had been identified and that the risk identification, assessment and management arrangements were in place and working.

12. Annual report to Council of the Pro-Vice Chancellor with responsibility for GLAM **

The Pro-Vice Chancellor (GLAM) provided an oral report emphasising the wealth of knowledge that continued to be generated by GLAM and the seven institutions within it.

- During the pandemic sites had been closed three times however the Arboretum had >70k visitors and the Bodleian produced 1.41 million ‘scan and deliver’ pages of information.

- Covid secure spaces had had to be created, which meant that visitor capacity was reduced to 30%. The Botanic Gardens had celebrated its 400th anniversary. Numerous events had been held online and it had also been possible to accelerate the installation of a number of exhibitions when the spaces were closed to the public.

- Research projects around social prescribing and older people’s health had been funded by the John Fell Fund and some research bases had been created in cultural spaces – these were both physical and virtual in nature. There continued to be a collaboration with Leicester University on “Culture Led Well-being”.

- Public engagement continued with the Museum of Natural History “Meat the Future” and “The sphere that changed the world” exhibitions as well as the “Beyond the Binary” exhibition at Pitt Rivers. The History of Science Museum and the Bodleian Library will continue to curate the Covid story.

- The digital strategy that was embarked upon in 2016 has delivered collections on-line, a new ticketing system and now supports collections on-line. It has changed collections management, provided a digital asset management function and provided a collections on-line solution. There continued to be a desire to grow digital / on-line events as well as commercialise products for example through the Ashmolean Shop.

* The confidential or restricted designation is removed from this version of the minutes.

A brief note of the action taken by Council is included instead of a version of the minutes.
• The four museums have 8.5m objects between them with less than 1% on display at any one time.
• Capital and development projects continued including the History of Science Museum Vision 2024, replacing the glass houses at the Botanic Gardens.
• The Strategic Plan for GLAM for 2021-23 had just been published with the aim of growing global audiences, fostering new ways of working and supporting local communities by investing in our digital and physical infrastructure.
